You can send up to $1,000 per calendar day and $10,000 per month when making a person-to-person transfer and up to $2,500 per calendar day and $10,000 per month when receiving person-to-person transfers. You can receive up to $50,000 per calendar month from a business or governmental agency. Payments you receive will appear on your statement as “DEBIT CARD TRANSFER CREDIT” and funds you transfer to another person will appear on your statement as “DEBIT CARD TRANSFER DEBIT.”

EFFECTIVE DATE: IMMEDIATELY

AMENDMENT:

Effective IMMEDIATELY, the “Payment Processing Hierarchy” and “Uncollected Funds and Overdrawn Balances” paragraphs under the section titled “Withdrawals” have been updated as follows:

Payment Processing Hierarchy

Generally, we credit your account for items and funds that have been accepted for deposit, and then process charges and transactions presented for payment against your account. The order of posting depends on a number of factors, including, when a transaction occurs, the type of transaction and the amount. Generally, checks and payments presented against your account will be paid in order of smallest to largest dollar amount which may also include certain other electronic transactions such as ACH debits and checks that have been converted into ACH debits. At any time, we may modify the posting order at our sole discretion without notice to you. As such, if you wish to avoid an overdraft or the possibility of a rejected transaction, you should take steps to ensure that your account has sufficient funds to cover each of your transactions and our fees. Please refer to the section titled “Citibank’s Standard Funds Availability Policy (All Marketplaces)". For the most accurate and up to date information regarding your account please refer to the Amendments to the CitiBusiness Client Manual, U.S. Markets.

Uncollected Funds and Overdrawn Balances

A draw against uncollected funds occurs when a transaction, item or other debit exceeds the amount of funds available for immediate use in the account. An overdraft or overdrawn balance occurs when one or more transactions exceed your available balance and may result in a negative balance. When multiple overdrafts or items are presented to process against uncollected funds occur on the same day, related fees may be combined into a single charge on your statement summary. Citibank has no obligation to pay or honor a check, item or other debit that is drawn against uncollected funds or overdrawn balances in your account. However, based upon a variety of factors which may change from time to time, we may elect to pay checks, items, or other debits drawn against uncollected funds or overdrawn balances in your account. Any such election to pay shall be in Citibank’s sole discretion and shall not relate to any other past or subsequent check, item or other debit, nor shall it constitute a course of dealing or a waiver of Citibank’s right to decline to pay any other check, item or other debit that is drawn against uncollected funds or overdrawn balances in your account. Citibank reserves the right to charge a fee when we pay an overdraft or process items against uncollected funds or return an item unpaid for an overdrawn balance. A daily interest charge of the current prime rate + 3% will be applied in connection with those payments for the actual number of days there exists a negative available balance in your account. Please refer to the “Additional Transaction Services Charges” in your CitiBusiness Standard Schedule of Fees and Charges for a full description of this charge.

If, for any reason, Citibank waives the interest charge on any payment creating or increasing a negative available balance in your account, such waiver shall not constitute a waiver of interest charges on any such payment thereafter. Each account owner is jointly or severally responsible for promptly repaying any overdrawn balances created in the account and associated interest charges, whether or not the owner participates in the transaction or benefits from its proceeds.

A service fee may also be charged when a check, ACH, item, or other debit is presented against uncollected funds or overdrawn balances. Therefore, based on various factors affecting the amount of uncollected funds and overdrawn balances in your account, your account may incur a daily interest charge and a service fee for payments made against uncollected funds or overdrawn balances. The daily interest charge and service fee may be offset by balances in your checking account that receive earnings credit. For descriptions of the service fee and the interest charge, please refer to the “Additional Transaction Services Charges” in your CitiBusiness Standard Schedule of Fees and Charges.

If Citibank elects not to advance funds to pay checks, items or debits drawn against uncollected funds or overdrawn balances in your account, or if the amount of any such check, item, or debit is not fully covered by such advance, your CitiBusiness Safety Check coverage or CitiBusiness Checking Plus line of credit may be triggered to pay the check, item or debit request. For a description of these services and any applicable fees, please refer to the section entitled “Overdraft Protection.”

Citibank’s Standard Funds Availability Policy (All Marketplaces)

This section will help you determine when deposits to your checking, savings and money market account(s) will be available for withdrawal. It describes the maximum time period it will take for your deposits to become available for withdrawal. It also describes certain types of deposits that are given special availability. Please note that the availability of deposits made via the Mobile Check Deposit service is described separately in the agreement governing that service.

Determining the Date of Deposit

The day funds become available is determined by counting business days from the day of your deposit. Every day is a business day except Saturdays, Sundays and federal holidays. If you make a deposit before our established cutoff time on a business day that we are open, we will consider that day to be the day of deposit. However, if you make a deposit after our cutoff time or on a non-business day, we will consider the next business day we are open to be the day your deposit is received.

- Deposits made in person with a teller before the end of the business day are considered received that day. The end of business day is posted at each branch and may vary by branch location.
- Deposits made at Citibank ATMs and non-Citibank ATM facilities before 10:30pm Eastern Time (9:30pm Central Time; 7:30pm Pacific Time) are considered received that day.
- Deposits made using the Remote Check Deposit service before 11:00pm Eastern Time (10:00pm Central Time; 8:00pm Pacific Time) are considered received that day.
- Deposits made at a night depository or received at a lock box facility are considered received by Citibank when the deposit is removed from the night depository or lockbox, which will be no later than the next business day.
Check deposits can be made by mail. A check deposit received by mail is considered made on the day we receive it at the mail facility designated below. Check deposits made by mail and addressed to any other Citibank address will be forwarded to the designated facility for processing and will be considered received on the date the deposit is received by this facility. Mailed deposits should include deposit ticket or list of checks, including company name and account number for deposit. Deposits mailed without a deposit ticket must have the account number written in the endorsement section on the back of each check. All checks must be properly endorsed by the business. Checks will post within 72 hours of receipt.

Longer Delays May Apply

• Doubt of collectability — We may delay the full amount of any check you deposit up to 5 business days if we have reason to believe the check you have deposited will not be paid. Should this occur, we will send you a deposit hold notice no later than the next business day after we decide to take this action.
• Emergency situations — We may delay the full amount of any check you deposit up to 7 business days if we are unable to conduct business due to an interruption of communications, computer equipment facilities or other emergency conditions beyond our control, such as the impact of a natural disaster. Should this occur, we will notify you if we are able to do so.

Collection Items
We may require that a check received for deposit be sent out for collection. This may occur, for example, if the check is drawn on an institution outside the United States. We will make the funds available to you after we receive payment from the bank on which the check is drawn. A service fee will generally apply. Please refer to the Schedule of Standard Fees and Charges.

Holds on Other Funds
If we cash a check that is drawn on another bank, we may withhold the availability of a corresponding amount already in your account. Those funds will be made available on the day they would have been available if you had deposited the check.

Our Right of Chargeback
The availability of funds from checks that you deposit will not affect your obligation to repay Citibank for any check that you deposit that is not paid nor does it affect our right to charge back your account for any check that is not paid.

Changes to Our Policy
We will notify you of any change(s) to our Funds Availability policies as required by applicable law.

Currently, Citibank does not impose an extended delay on the redeposit of check(s) returned unpaid. Therefore, effective immediately, the “Exceptions to Citibank’s Standard Funds Availability Policy” section of the CitiBusiness Client Manual is amended as follows:

The subsection titled “Redeposit of Check(s) Returned Unpaid” is deleted in its entirety.

EFFECTIVE DATE: NOVEMBER 1, 2020

1. The “General Information” section of the CitiBusiness Client Manual that begins on page 3 is amended as follows:

The subsection titled “Changing Your Account Records” located on page 4 is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following new subsection:

It is important that your account records be kept up to date. You have a responsibility to provide us with your physical mailing address (not a post office box). Please inform us of any change in your business address, including your physical mailing address or your electronic mail address. Be sure to change the address on all of your accounts. If you fail to do so, we shall not be liable for errors, debits or charges to, or your inability to transact in, your account resulting from such failure.

The subsection titled “Account Errors and Adjustments” located on page 4 is amended by deleting the first paragraph of such subsection and replacing it with the following new paragraph:

We may make adjustments to your account whenever a correction or change is required. Adjustments might occur, for example, if a deposit amount is entered in an amount that is different than the actual amount of the deposit or items you deposit are returned unpaid. In the case of a deposit error where the deposit amount is entered in the wrong amount, we will either investigate the error and make an adjustment (debit or credit) to your account or, alternatively, credit your account for the full amount of the discrepancy without investigation.

The subsection titled “Opening an Account” that begins on page 5 is amended by deleting the third sentence on page 6 and replacing it with the following new paragraph:

In addition, we collect and use personal information from or about you to process applications, service your accounts or otherwise run our business. The personal information can include information about your account and transactions, and information we receive from credit reporting agencies and other sources. We share this information with our affiliates or third parties to check creditworthiness, service your accounts, market products or services, or otherwise run our business as permitted by applicable law.

2. The “Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA)” section of the Client Manual that begins on page 9 is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following section:

In order for Citibank to comply with the provisions of the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA), a U.S. federal tax law, Citibank may request additional information and/or documentation. Furthermore, you should not rely upon Citibank to determine the impact of FATCA on your business activities or what your compliance obligations are under FATCA. Citibank encourages you to seek the advice of experienced tax advisors to determine what actions you need to take to become FATCA compliant. Your failure to comply with FATCA may result in restricted access or withholding of taxes from interest payments due to you.

If your business is organized as a partnership, these terms shall remain in full force and effect despite changes in the parties comprising your partnership. For this purpose, your “partnership” shall include any altered or successor partnership, but the predecessor partnerships and their partners shall not thereby be released from any liability. Citibank may require new partners to execute documentation relating to the accounts.
The “Governing Law” section of the Client Manual that begins on page 9 is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following section:

Accounts and services are governed by federal laws and regulations and, to the extent not preempted by federal law or otherwise inapplicable, by your “governing state law.” Your governing state law, if you first opened your account or enrolled for a service at a branch, is that of the state in which that branch is located, regardless of the state where your business is located or where you reside. Your governing state law in all other cases, including if you opened your account or enrolled for a service remotely (for example by Citibank® Online or CitiPhone Banking®), is deemed to be the law of the State of South Dakota, unless a specific agreement states otherwise.

The “CitiBusiness Checking Accounts” section of the Client Manual that begins on page 13 is amended by adding the following new subsection as the final subsection on page 17:

How CitiBusiness Checking Balances are Maintained:
For regulatory and accounting purposes, all CitiBusiness checking accounts (whether interest-bearing or non-interest-bearing) consist of two sub-accounts: (i) a transaction sub-account into which all financial transactions are posted; and (ii) a savings sub-account into which available balances above a pre-set level are transferred daily. Transfers to and from the savings sub-account will be periodically made when available balances in the transaction sub-account exceed a preset level or fall below a predetermined level, as applicable. Transfers between these sub-accounts are in accordance with federal regulations.

This structure will not impact the use of your account or your bank statement and both sub-accounts are treated as a single account for purposes of customer deposits and withdrawals, applicable interest, fees, FDIC insurance, and other features. As required by federal regulations, we reserve the right to require seven days’ advance notice before permitting withdrawals from only the savings subaccount portion of your account. However, we do not presently exercise this right.

The “Standard Funds Availability Schedule” section of the Client Manual that begins on page 27 is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following section:

The following schedule applies to all check deposit(s) made during any Business Day, except as set forth under “Special Availability of Certain Deposits”

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Deposit Amount</th>
<th>Availability</th>
</tr>
</thead>
| $100,000 or less     | Available two (2) Business Days after deposit |}

Deposits of $100,000 or less will be available two (2) Business Days after deposit, and deposits in excess of $100,000 will be available three (3) Business Days after deposit. When you make a single deposit, or multiple deposits in the course of a Business Day, totaling more than $100,000, the portion in excess of $100,000 will be available three (3) Business Days after deposit. Any time you deposit two (2) or more checks totaling more than $100,000, the check or checks with the fastest availability will be allocated to the portion of your deposit below $100,000.

The first $225 of your total Business Day’s check deposits is available on the Business Day after the Business Day of deposit, unless made with a teller, in which case it is available immediately.

The “Electronic Banking” section of the Client Manual that begins on page 37 is amended by adding the following new subsection on page 40 after the subsection entitled “Transaction Records:”

MasterCard MoneySend
You can use your Debit Card to send funds person-to-person, or receive funds from a person, business or governmental agency through participating merchants and merchant web sites using Mastercard MoneySend. You can send up to $1,000 per calendar day and $10,000 per month when making a person-to-person transfer and up to $2,500 per calendar day and $10,000 per month when receiving person-to-person transfers. You can receive up to $50,000 per calendar month from a business or governmental agency. Payments you receive will appear on your statement as “MoneySend Credit” and funds you transfer to another person will appear on your statement as “MoneySend Debit.”

The subsection titled “Receipt of Gifts, Gratuities and Nonmonetary Compensation to Citi” which begins on page 45 of the Client Manual is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

From time to time, third-party vendors (such as investment product distributors and providers, mutual fund companies, investment advisors, insurance and annuity companies, broker-dealers, wholesalers, etc.) may provide Citi with non-monetary gifts and gratuities, such as promotional items (i.e., coffee mugs, calendars or gift baskets), meals, entertainment and access to certain industry related conferences or other events (collectively, “gifts”).

Citi has implemented policies and procedures to help ensure compliance with all applicable laws and regulations (including the U.S. Bank Bribery Act and the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act). These are intended to ensure that Citi and its employees worldwide avoid actual or perceived conflicts of interest when giving or receiving gifts and entertainment from relevant parties.

The policies and procedure limit the maximum value that may generally be received by any individual to (i) $100.00 in any calendar year for a gift, and (ii) $250.00 for meals and entertainment (sporting events, theater, or other comparable entertainment), in each case (subject to preapproval), per vendor, per day, and an aggregate maximum of $1,000.00 per calendar year per vendor.

The foregoing must be appropriate, customary and reasonable and clearly not meant to influence Citi business or serve as a “quid pro quo” for it to be accepted by Citi. To the extent any gift, gratuity or non-monetary compensation is paid to or received by Citi, we believe it is insubstantial with respect to any particular account or client.
